Passenger Traffic Men and Freight Schedute Framers in Maze of Doubts.

(From Our Regalar Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.—Passenger traffic railroad men, as well as freight schedule framers, are in a maso of perplexing doubts over the details of the new railway rate law, which goes into effect on August 28th. A meeting of the general passenger agents of the principal railroads of the country, which was to be held in New York next week, has been postponed a week. The meeting will discuss the situation, Between how and the time of the meeting the terms of the rate bill as it affects the pissenger business will be submitted to the law departments of the several railroads, and it is hoped that some definited to the law departments of the several railroads, and it is hoped that some definited view as a basis for the action of the meeting will be afforded.

A provision of the new law which has breated much discussion among passenger agents is the order that after a phassenger rate has once been fixed it must remain in effect at least thirty days before it can be changed. This provision many of the agents believe will put an end to all week-end excursion rates and the providing of rates for unexpected passengers in bulk. For instance, as to excursions, the provision is interpreted WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16 .- Pas-he providing of rates for unexpecter, assengers in bulk. For instance, as tracursions, the provision is interpreter y some railroad men as declaring that railroad company makes a rate duced price, the ticket to be good only Friday, Saturday and Sunday, or only Friday, Saturday and Sunday, as the case may be, the law would compel rallroads to keep this reduced rate in force not only for the week-end, but for thirty days.

Is Similarly, excursion tickets arranged for towns where big conventions are held would be good only for ten days or two weeks, as is now the rule but would have to remain in force during the prescribed period of thirty days. It is evident that if this view is correct, all rallroads will be compelled to abandon their week-end excursion tickets and will be seriously handleapped in making excurprice, the ticket to be good only riously handicapped in making excur-ons for conventions, etc., except under nusual circumstances. Again, the com-aint is made that the law now makes plaint is made that the law now makes an absolute rate for over two or more interstate lines with no sore of room for flexibility, such as is allowed in the old interstate law, and against which, as the railroad men insist, the public never made complaint. It is said that under the new law it will be impossible with any satisfaction of a reasonable sort for the railroads to apswer such calls as rates for large bodies of laborers such as not infrequently come and ch as not infrequently come and pleasure party of ten, including two daughters and a son of J. A. Fountain,

Division Superintendent of the Atlanto Division Superintendent of the Atlantic Coast Line, came near being drowned in the sea off Wrightsville Beach late yesterday afternoon. The party was aboard a large naphtha faunch, and in the face of a heavy sea the craft ventured farout. Misunderstood orders caused the engine to be shut down, and the next moment the launch was violently thrown into the trough of the sea. Windows were smashed and the craft soon awash. The passengers became panic-stricken, Signals of distress were hoisted and a large launch, manned by life-savers, went out from the Beach and rescued the passengers and crew just in time.

The ladies of the party suffered greatly from the shack.

Estimated Earnings This Year Show Great Increase Over Last Season.

A SNAKE HOLDS UP A TRAIN

The three diportant fines included the Atlantic Coast Line system, the Allantic Coast Line, the Louisville and Nashville and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, have reported gross earnings for the eleven months of the fiscal year just closed. Assuming that the comparative earnings of June will be approximately equal to those of May, the will be as follows:

Gross.

These figures, showing an increase of nearly 10 per dent over the previous fiscal year, are regarded as a remarkable showing, considering the fact that there was a short cotton crop and that for three months Southern traffic was great-

The fiscal year just closed has proved a banner year for American roads. While it will be many months before the official figures for all the railroads in the United States are available, the increases that have been shown month after month by the railroads making monthly returns indicate a very large increase in both gross and net earnings over the figures for 100. While it would be hazardous to estimate closely the actual increase for all the roads in the country, it seems probable from the figures already available that the gross sannings of the rail-

The Dally Press of Plainfield, N. J., announces the death, after a brief illness, of Abram G. Remsen, of that city, which occurred on Friday last. The Press says:

"Mr. Remsen had been a local resident for a long time, coming here from Brooklyn. He was the son of the late Lettida Remsen, who died a short time ago at the age of 100 years. He was devoted to religious work and was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, in which he held the office of deacon. Surviving him are a widow, one daughter, who lives here; a brother in Brooklyn, and one aister in Virginia."

ployed him in his service. In 1867 he married the daughter of Mr. David Granam. At the death, in 1870, of this employer, then his father-in-law, he, in connection with D. P. Granam, were made executors for this large estate, and since that period Mr. Robinson has been a most strenuous worker in the development of the minerals of this section. He has been connected in one way or another with all the valuable ore banks, charcoal furnaces and mines in Wythe county that line the banks of Cripple Creek and New River, and to him is due, as much as to any other person, the uncarthing of this great treasury that lay along those waters and their tributaries.

He was possessed of unusually good business qualifications and was a milning expert. He was modest in his deportment of most exemplary habits and trusted by all. While his holding in minoral land passed from him a few years before his death, still he disd possessed of very fine property and fully identified with business in this county and the city of Lynchburg.

At the time he was stricken he was chairman of the Board of Supervisors of this county and an active and greatly trusted agent of the Virginia Coal and Iron Company.

Noble Jack Gordon.

Noble Jack Gordon.

Richmond, Va., July 16, 1906.

In the nineteenth year of his age, with the future bright and promising, John W. Gordon, Jr., met his death in the James River while endeavoring to save a young girl's life.

Few young inen have been given, at so early an age, such promise of magnificent manhood. During the whole of his young life he had shown a disposition that won for him the love and admiration of all with whom he came in contiact. At school and college he was most popular, and though not one who ever tried to be prominent, or seemed to desire it, was made by his fellow-students a leader.

popular, and, though not one who ever tried to be prominent, or seemed to desire it, was made by his fellowstudents a leader.

Letters among his papers from numerous college mates evince a spirit of friendship that can only be excited by a strong and lovable character.

Possessed, naturally, of an exceedingly quick temper and fetrling nothing on earth, Jack Gordon was yet the senior of boys and detested a row. At McGuire's School he was known as "the peacemaker" and was ever being called upon to mediate in and smooth over difficulties between his schoolmatos.

During this, the last year of his life, he grew from boyhood into manhood, showing, not by words alone, but by all his actions, that he realized the seriousness and duties of life and was determined to use the gifts God had given him to do his part. I was particularly impressed with the change in his appearance that this more serious, manly view of life had made when I was yesterday shown a photograph made when he was sixteen. It was the picture of a young, thoughtless boy and lacked the strongth and mainlness that Jack's face possessed as I saw him the morning before he met his death.

I had knoown him for several years, and, though, being much older. I did not know him as intimately as his youngerfriends, was deeply impressed with the strength of his character and the generosity of his disposition. He was always considerate of the feelings of others and almost to reverence.

His father to-day told me of two letters Jack had recently received from college chums in Texas—letters found in his papers—and quoted to me some of their contents. Both letters plainly showed that Jack had been using his influence to induce them to lay asido their boyish collies and make use of the opportunities they now had to prepare themselves for the part they should take in life. One of the boys expressed the hope that he and Jack could ke to the same college together next year and be room mates, as he had determined to be a man and thought being and make use of the poportunit

BOY TRAVELER HAS MADE 40,000 MILES

Twelve-Year-Old Passenger on Westernland Completed Plucky Trip Alone From South Africa on Way to Father in Norfolk.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PHILADELPHIA, PA.. July 16.—Sixteen thousand miles alone was the traveling record of twelve-year-old Samuel Kauffman, who arrived at this port yesterday upon the steamship Westernland from Queenstown. From Durban, on the eastern coast of South Africa, this sturdy and self-reliant little chap started a month ago to rejoin his father, who at present is at Norfolk, Va. Last night he left this city for the South.

His manly manner won him friends wherever he went, and thus his passage was made easy, as steamship officials both here and abroad took pleasure in seeing that he made the proper connections.

When he arrives at Norfolk he will have traveled 40,000 miles in all during the past two years.
